Collaborative psychiatric epidemiology surveys (CPES)

Information

Type: Other
Author: National Institute of Mental Health
Publisher: National Institute of Mental Health

See This Resource

https://www.icpsr.umich.edu/icpsrweb/ICPSR/studies/20240 [1]

This project provides data on the distributions, correlates, and risk factors of mental disorders among the general population, with special emphasis on minority groups, through access to three nationally representative surveys: the National Comorbidity Survey Replication (NCS-R), the National Survey of American Life (NSAL), and the National Latino and Asian American Study (NLAAS). CPES permits the investigation of cultural and ethnic influences on mental health.

Links within this resource
[1] https://www.icpsr.umich.edu/icpsrweb/ICPSR/studies/20240

Printed on 12/10/2019 from http://www.sprc.org/resources-programs/collaborative-psychiatric-epidemiology-surveys-cpes