The fifth edition of the Big Cities Health Inventory (BCHI) report, a compendium of health status indicators produced in a comparative format for the 54 largest metropolitan areas in the United States. Considers 54 major American cities. Presents the indicators for the cities overall, according to gender and race/ethnicity. Indicators include suicides.