Transforming Tribal Communities: Weaving Culture into Suicide Prevention Strategies

August 21, 2020
News Type: Weekly Spark, Weekly Spark Announcement

SPRC is excited to announce the release of a new video in our series Transforming Tribal Communities: Indigenous Perspectives on Suicide Prevention [1]. In this brief webinar clip, Rob England of the Yurok Tribe and United Indian Health Services, Inc., highlights the merits of weaving culture into evidence-based suicide prevention strategies to engage multiple generations of Native community members in prevention efforts that are effective and transformative.

Links within this resource